

To use any of the library resources you will need to be a member of the library. Joining is as easy as completing the online form on our website

If you want access outside of the library opening times just ask for 24 hr access and we can arrange that for you.

The library has over 20 computers, some with a dual screen available, as well as a number of study pods and desks where you can use your own device.

You will need your trust logon details to use the computers.

Please use the antiseptic wipes, which are available at the enquiry desk, to wipe down the keyboard before use.

www.knowledge-nw.nhs.uk

To use Discovery you will need an NHS OpenAthens account. If you haven't already got one you can register for one <https://openathens.nice.org.uk/>

NHS OpenAthens will give you access to e-books, full text articles and e-journals.

If you can't get into the library you can request a book using the online form <http://www.knowledge-nw.nhs.uk/Resources/Pages/Books.aspx> and we will post the book(s) out to you.

You can access a wide range of online journals at home or work. Some publishers do put an embargo on the content, so if you can't access the article you want using your NHS OpenAthens account you can request it from us <http://www.knowledge-nw.nhs.uk/Resources/Pages/Journals.aspx> and in most cases we can email the article to you.
